THE ELECTION.

Large Democratic Majority in Congress.

The Recent Elections.

By Associated Press.

ST. PAUL, Nov. 6.—The latest figures from the Fifth Congressional District indicate the possible election of Falgout, the Alliance candidate.

ELMHURST, N. Y., Nov. 6.—H. H. Rockwell, a Democrat, is elected to Congress in the Twenty-eighth District.

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 6.—Senator Quay passed through this city last night, on his way to Florida. In reply to a query: "To what do you attribute the result of the election?" he said, "To a lack of votes." "It looks to me as though that the best thing to do just now is to saw wood." The returns indicate that the farmers and laboring-men did the business for us in this State.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Associated Press reports show the election of 68 Democratic Assemblymen in New York State to 60 Republicans. The former will have on joint ballot, 81 votes against the latter's 79, which ensures the election of a Democratic successor to Senator Everts. The Democrats claim two Assembly Districts credited to the Republicans to belong to them.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The Tribune (R) finds the result in the State Legislature on joint ballot to be: Republicans, 102; Democrats, 100; Alliance, 2.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—The Daily News (Ind.), makes a forecast of the make-up of the Fifty-third Congress, counting the Farmers' Alliance men with the Democrats. It shows a total of 99 Republicans and 233 Democrats; Democratic majority, 133.

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Chairman Jones of the Republican State Central Committee concedes the Legislature to the Democrats, but claims the election of the State ticket by from 6,000 to 8,000. The Democratic State Central Committee are unwilling to concede the claims of Jones in regard to the State ticket, as the official returns from 27 counties out of 102 in the State show a net gain of over 10,000 for the Democratic State ticket.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Complete returns on the State Legislature shows the Republicans have a majority of 56 on joint ballot.

HARTFORD (Conn.), Nov. 6.—The Legislature is Republican by from 8 or 10 on joint ballot. Congressmen, Lewis Perry (D) of the First District; W. F. Wilcox (D) of the Second; Charles A. Russell (R) of the Third; and Robert E. DeForrest (D) in the Fourth.

FARGO (N. D.), Nov. 6.—Incomplete returns indicate that the Legislature will have ten Republicans out of a total membership of 93. The entire Republican State and Congressional ticket is elected.

DETROIT, Nov. 6.—It is thought that the whole Democratic State ticket is elected by from 6,000 to 15,000 plurality. The Legislature is also Democratic on a fusion vote with the Farmers of Industry, who hold the balance of power in the First, Second, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh and Tenth Congressional Districts.

CONCORD (N. H.), Nov. 6.—The Republicans concede the election of Daniels (D) in the Second District. This gives the Democrats the two Congressmen from this State. Both parties claim the Legislature.

HELENA (Mont.), Nov. 6.—The Republican Committee claim that Carter will have a small majority, but Dixon's election is generally conceded by from 200 to 500 plurality.

CANTON, Ohio, Nov. 6.—The lack of telegraph facilities in Holmes county prevents the exact ascertaining of the vote in McKinley's district. Stark county gives McKinley 700 majority and Medina county 1,400. Wayne gives Warwick 390 majority, and the latest advices from Holmes give him 1,980. McKinley concedes Warwick's election by 500. This will be verified unless the votes of the precincts in Holmes, which are estimated, show unexpected gains for McKinley.

CANTON, Ohio, Nov. 6.—McKinley said this afternoon to an Associated Press reporter that while conceding his probable defeat by a small ma-majority he is greatly satisfied with the result. He said the issues were between protective tariff and tariff for revenue only, clear and distinct, and nothing else entered into the canvass. His bill was the center of assault.

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 6.—The latest information from Arkansas is to the effect that the official returns from nine counties in the Second District, and close estimates in the remaining counties, give Breckinridge 700 majority. Both parties claim the First District. In the Fourth District Terry is elected, and all the other districts have probably also gone Democratic.

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—The returns from 66 counties give Merriam (Rep.) for Governor a plurality of 3,326, with 15 counties to bear from. It looks as if Merriam is elected. The Fifth Congressional District is still in doubt. Castle (Dem.) is elected in the Fourth, Lind (Rep.) in the Second, Harris (Dem.) in the First and O. M. Hall (Dem.) in the Third. The Alliance will probably hold the balance of power in the State Legislature.

DES MOINES, Nov. 6.—The nearly complete unofficial returns for Secretary of State, with a few counties partly estimated, show McFarland, the Republican nominee, has a plurality of 2,183. The remainder of the State ticket is probably divided.

The latest Congressional returns elect Henderson, a Republican, in the Third District and Flick in the Eighth. The delegation to Congress will stand six Republicans and five Democrats.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 6.—The Democrats elect 11 out of the 13 Congressmen, and claim the State by 20,000 majority.

OMAHA, Nov. 6.—Boyd (D) is elected Governor by from 3,000 to 5,000, but the most of the Republican State ticket below the Governor is elected. The Farmers' Alliance have the Legislature and two Congressmen, and most of the county officers.

PACIFIC COAST ELECTIONS.
SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—In 1,114 precincts in California, including 173 precincts in this city, Markham (Rep.) has 84,701 and Pond (Dem.) 74,567. Markham's plurality being 10,134. This constitutes the returns from more than one-half of the precincts in the State.

One thousand and fifty precincts outside of this city, combined with 208 precincts counted here, give Markham 92,164 and Pond 81,404; Markham's majority, 10,760.

Twenty-three precincts of the city give Markham 17,836, Pond 16,653; Cutting (Rep.) for Congress from the Fourth District 7,733, Ferrell (Dem.) 7,421; Loud (Rep.) from the Fifth District 10,481, Clunie 8,509; Sanderson (Rep.) for Mayor 13,773, Good (Dem.) 10,300, O'Donnell (Ind.) 11,196.

TURKANA (Nev.), Nov. 6.—Winters polled 206 votes in this precinct against 259 for Colcord, which gives Winters a majority of 7. Bartine gets one majority over Cassidy, the vote being 263 and 262.

Lord Coleridge Dangerously Ill.
By Cable and Associated Press.

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Excitement was created in the high Court of Justice to-day by the sudden illness of Lord Coleridge, Lord Chief Justice of England. His Lordship had heard a case in his private room, and though he complained of feeling ill during the hearing, he was able to give a decision in the matter. Directly afterward he was seized with an apoplectic paralytic stroke. The nearest doctor was hastily summoned and his Lordship was placed upon an improvised couch in the ante-room. Other doctors were summoned and are now in attendance upon him. They declare his condition critical.

This afternoon his Lordship was taken home.

Murdered Her Own Child.
By Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 6.—Barbara Lamprecht, 31 years old, killed her daughter, six years, this morning by cutting her throat with a razor and then attempted suicide by cutting her own throat.

Mrs. Lamprecht also attempted to kill her six-months-old baby, but only succeeded in wounding the child slightly about the throat. The murderer's condition is critical. The woman was temporarily insane.

Too Much Medicine.
SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—In a fit of delirium, produced by some medicine taken for malaria, ex-Police Officer Nicholas Berg shot himself through the head last evening, and an hour later he died. He leaves a widow and one child.

A Political Killing.
SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

FOREST HILL, Nov. 6.—At Bath, Placer county, Tuesday, while the election was in progress, Mark Haney was shot and instantly killed by Eliha Cowhill in a quarrel over politics.

TRUCKEE BURNED.

An Incendiary Fire Destroys the Town.

THE BUSINESS PORTION RUINED.

A Hurricane Blowing at the Time.

An Incendiary Fire at Nevada City, Cal.

Truckee In Ashes.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

TRUCKEE (Cal.), Nov. 6.—A disastrous fire broke out here shortly after midnight, and as the wind was blowing a hurricane, the flames were soon beyond control.

The fire was started in the rear of Stall's brewery by an incendiary. A man was seen running away from the place soon after the flames broke out.

The brewery and half a dozen other buildings were soon burning and the fire was momentarily catching on the roofs and porches of other houses a block distant.

The citizens fought the flames with great determination, and a fire train arrived from Summit and gave assistance, but their efforts were of no avail. East Main street was soon in ashes and all the frame buildings on Front street were burning.

Nearly forty buildings, including the entire business portion of the town, had been destroyed by 2 o'clock this morning, and the residence portion also seemed doomed.

A slight snow was falling, but it had no effect on the flames.

The wind shifted about 3 o'clock and the fire, which threatened to completely wipe out the town, seemed to be under control. All the buildings east of Hurd's Hall are probably saved.

The shifting of the wind this morning drove the flames back upon the burning portion of the town and gave the citizens an opportunity to put out the fire at the skating rink, Sheritt House and the Harrison & Stevenson block, thus checking its further progress. Supervisor McPherson assumed the leadership of the citizens, and to their heroic efforts the saving of the entire town is conceded.

The principal losses are: George Curless, stock of drugs, $10,000, partially insured; Dr. William Curless, office furniture and library, $700; Durno, Postoffice building and stock of dry goods, $16,000, insurance $12,000; Mary Ann Moffatt, brick building, $3,500, partially insured; D. W. Townner, express office (all express matter saved), $750, no insurance; J. F. Moody, express office building, $3,000, insurance, $2,000; Truckee Lumber Company, general merchandise, $10,000, insured; Pacific Lumber and Wood Company, office furniture, $750, insured; Julius Adolph, dry goods, $3,500, partially insured; G. B. Gentile, stock of liquors and cigars, $1,700, no insurance; Moody & Richardson's stable, hay and barley, $3,500, insurance, $1,000; Tachini & Leonias, St. Louis Brewery, $750, no insurance; Dixon & Fogarty, saloon stock, $1,000, no insurance; R. W. Dixon's building and contents, $4,000, no insurance; J. G. Williams, damage to building and stock of groceries, $2,000, insured; W. H. Hard, damage to brick building and contents, $6,000; Louis Dessout, $4,000, insurance, $2,100; James Reed, residence and contents, $3,000, insurance, $1,300; Bertha Jackson, residence and furniture, $3,000, insurance, $1,000; Louis Dubois, $2,500, small insurance; Nellie Wade, five dwellings and furniture, $10,000, partly insured. The buildings of the Truckee Lumber Company, M. E. Barkhalter, J. L. Lewison & Co., J. G. Williams, Tachini & Leonias and G. W. Humphrey & Co. proved fireproof. All others are a total loss as far east as the Odd Fellows Hall on Front street and Andrew Johnson's residence on east Main street.

Three fire-trains helped to quench the conflagration. Many suffered great loss from breakage in removing goods and from water. The plaza is literally covered with furniture and goods.

The fire is still burning in Hurd's building and the roofs of Lewison's, Williams' and Truckee Lumber Co.'s buildings, but no further danger is anticipated. Lumber for rebuilding the burnt district began to arrive on the ground at daylight, and as soon as the fire is extinguished the work of rebuilding will commence.

The losses, as far as known, aggregate about $110,000 and the insurance about $20,000.

Stanley's Arrival in New York.
By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—H. M. Stanley arrived on the steamer Teutonic this morning and was met by his manager, Pond, with a party. Stanley was asked to say something about the rear guard troubles and the stand the London papers have taken on it since his departure from England.

"I do not wish to say much about it yet, and have not read the London papers carefully enough to express an opinion. I object to stir matters up unless I am forced to do so. The log-books of the rear guard were signed day by day, in the course of the day, by Bartlett, Barre or Kingston, while in charge, together with the official reports of the officers. I am justified by all in my censure of the rear guard, which was the cause of the attack made upon me in the book."

With Stanley were his wife, Dorothy Tennant, an English artist; her mother, Mrs. Tennant; Hamilton Aide, the dramatist, who will act as historian of the tour, and Lieut. J. Mountney Jephson, a favorite of Stanley's.

Did His Own Hanging

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

SANTA CRUZ, Cal., Nov. 6.—Chris Carruthers was deserted by his wife three months ago. He accused Charles Hartman of taking her from him, and cut the latter severely. While being taken to jail Carruthers said he cut Hartman, intending to kill him, and did not care if he had to hang for it. Yesterday morning Carruthers' cell-mate woke up and saw the latter's body hanging from a bar in the wall. Upon examining him, he found that Carruthers had tied a handkerchief around his neck, tying the loose end to an iron bar only four feet from the ground, and had lifted his feet and straggled to death.

Important Railroad News.

SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.

PORTLAND (Or.), Nov. 6.—The Oregonian publishes a statement said to emanate from a reliable authority that the Rock Island has joined hands with C. P. Huntington to build a line from Winnemucca, on the Central Pacific, using the Pengra Pass east of Springfield through the Cascades, and connecting with Huntington's Oregonian Railroad. The Rock Island is said to have entered into an agreement to help Huntington in his project, receiving in return a traffic agreement which will let it into Portland on even terms with the Union Pacific and the Northwestern.

Revolutionary Proclamation.

By Cable and Associated Press.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Nov. 6.—It has been discovered that a revolutionary proclamation is in circulation among the Armenians in Turkey, and the Porte has issued an order forbidding any meeting by the Armenians; neither will any sitting of the National Assembly be allowed. Many Armenians have been arrested, including Urparian members of the National Assembly and the editor of the Arevik.

Grain Elevator Burned.

By Associated Press.

BUFFALO, Nov. 6.—At 3 o'clock this morning a fire was discovered in Well's elevator, and after a strong fight, in which much valuable surrounding property was threatened, the flames were confined to the elevator, which was entirely destroyed. Loss, $250,000, of which $100,000 on the building and $150,000 on the grain was insured.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

THE GAZETTE is willing to recognize honest merit in any one, be he Democrat or Republican, and in this connection will speak of Charles Gilling, the Democratic nominee for State Senator. Mr. Gilling made a modest and gallant fight against Mr. Foley, who is snugly ensconced behind wealth of his own, besides having the warm support of all the moulded powers in the State. Mr. Gilling had to make a poor man's fight, and came within 63 votes of an election in a county that gave an average of 240 majority two years ago for the Republican ticket. This shows that half a life-time spent in well-doing in a community counts for something after all.

THE GAZETTE is still vomiting. The nomination and election of Mr. Foley was too much for its delicate stomach.

You are mistaken, neighbor. The GAZETTE got rid of most of its bile before the nominations were made, and is not the least bit sick. We believe that time will vindicate our course, and are content to wait, while the methods resorted to by you will come home to roost sooner or later. No, our stomach was never in better condition.

No DOUBT the Democrats have got the next House of Representatives. It will not, probably, make much difference in our national policy. This winter the Republican House will pass the shipping bill, and before the next Congress gets at work, the good effects of that and the McKinley bill will create public sentiment strong enough to prevent any factional tinkering with our fiscal system.

THE Democratic Congressional gains will probably put Europe in a better humor, deluding it with a hope of reversed American policy. Perhaps now our European friends will quit sulking and make up their exhibits for the World's Fair. Before the Industrial Exhibition opens there will be another election, however, which may show them the difference between a Presidential and an off year.

TRUCKER is again in ashes. This is the fifth or sixth time that the little town has been wiped out by flames. The people have the sympathy of the GAZETTE in their affliction. Hanging is altogether too good for the miserable sneak who fired the town, and we hope, if captured, he will be despatched by the shortest possible route.

THE sensational story in Tuesday's New York Times about England's preparations for possible war with the United States looks more like a campaign card than anything else. It might have been intended to discredit the foreign policy of the Administration. It came rather late in the day for that purpose.

HAVING shown that they can beat Buckley when they try, the people of San Francisco should put in their best licks against any other boss whenever he shows his head. A boss under a new name would be more dangerous than the old and degraded monster, because not so well known.

THE Republicans East did not appear to be in it at all. The Democrats are claiming 133 majority in the 53d Congress. It would seem to show that the McKinley bill is exceedingly unpopular. The Farmers' Alliance seems to have done the business.

In the event of the election of Will U. Mackey for State Printer if all the printers who are expecting "cases" in the State Printing Office receive jobs, the size of that State Institution will have to be largely increased.

DURING the past year 4,427 new postoffices were established in the United States. That is one of the ways a Republican administration manifests its fidelity to the interests of the people of all classes and parties.

THE Bulletin says there is both profit and glory in the result in San Francisco and California. It is the silver lining of the Democratic cloud in the east.

No NEVADAN will be sorry to hear of the defeat of Cannon in the Fifteenth Congressional District of Illinois. The Bulletin says that "he opened his mouth and put his foot in it."

It is now almost an assured fact that the entire Republican State ticket has been elected, with, perhaps, the exception of Wells for District Judge.

THIS seems to be a bad year for political bosses. Nearly all of them have been partially if not wholly left throughout the nation.

A Second Crop.
The Visalia (Cal.) Times says: Grain that was scattered out on the ground during harvest on many fields in the county has taken root and sent forth spears that are now six inches high. Many fields are green with growing grain that shows as much life and vitality as that sown in the spring of the year.

The Great Spring Medicine.
It will be gratifying to all who realize the vital necessity of purifying the blood, to know that Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup can be relied upon as a blood medicine. Mr. B. C. Robinson, of Marshall, Mich., says: "I have suffered intensely from rheumatism and rheumatism for over three years and had tried so many remedies that I had lost all faith. Hearing of Hibbard's Rheumatic Syrup I bought a bottle and found it helped me. I have now used four bottles, and it has restored my liver and kidneys to healthy action, and done more to purify my blood than anything I have ever used. I am pleased to recommend it as a wonderful blood medicine."

A Sure Cure for Piles.
Itching Piles are known by moisture, like perspiration causing intense itching when warm. This form, as well as blind, bleeding and protruding, yield at once to Dr. Bosanko's Pile Remedy, which acts directly on the parts affected, absorbs tumors, allays itching and effects a permanent cure. Druggists sell; or write to Dr. Bosanko, Piquette, O. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson.

Improved digestion and assimilation produce disordered conditions of the system which grow and are confirmed by neglect. Dr. J. H. McLean's Strengthening Cordial and Blood Purifier, by its tonic properties, cures indigestion and gives tone to the stomach. $1.00 a bottle.

Make No Mistake

If you decide, from what you have heard of its cures or read of its merits, that you will take Hood's Sarsaparilla, do not be induced to buy something else which may be claimed to be "about the same" or "just as good." Remember that the sole reason for efforts to get you to purchase some substitute is that more profit may be made. Firmly resist all inducements, and insist upon having just what you called for, Hood's Sarsaparilla. Then you will not be experimenting with a new article, for Hood's Sarsaparilla is Tried and True.

"In one store the clerk tried to induce me to buy their own instead of Hood's Sarsaparilla. But he could not prevail on me to change. I told him I knew what Hood's Sarsaparilla was, I had taken it, was perfectly satisfied with it, and did not want any other." Mrs. ELLA A. GORR, 61 Terrace Street, Boston, Mass.

We Are All Taking It.

"We could not be without Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is the best medicine we ever kept in the house. My family are all taking it." Mrs. J. M. BARBER, San Joaquin and Fremont Streets, Eochton, Cal.

A TEXAN MARKET.

Busy Scenes Enacted Once a Week at Houston.

The Queer Things One Sees and Hears in and Around the Market-House Every Saturday—All Nationalities Are There.

Pursuing the odd, the new and the characteristic takes the tourist to the Saturday evening market held at Houston. It is something unique and this the only place to see it, small markets not being allowed here as in other cities. Houston also holds a Sunday market, but inaugurated the Saturday movement for the benefit of those who were too lazy or too religious to rise early on the Sabbath morning. It has borne good fruit, opening out great and new fields for trade, as the German farmers soon came in from distances of twenty miles and more hauling their produce in wagons, and wholesaling it to the many small dealers, who now depend on this supply, their "prairie schooners" and slow ox teams of four and five yokes of oxen filling the streets with an element usually unknown in city life.

The market-house itself, standing in the midst of its square, is a fine-looking building, with crouching lions at the corners and fountains in the grass-plot at the side; but it is the people who congregate here that make it such a remarkable scene, the vendors alone representing every nationality, Americans being far in the minority.

The market wagons occupy one side of the thoroughfare which bounds the square. They stand drawn up in line, their hind wheels touching the curb, the horses' heads turned to the middle of the street. It is supposed, and in some few cases correctly, that the owners of these wagons pay no stall rent, but only a small license to sell, they will dispose of their commodities at lower prices than those vendors within the building. It is only in this outer row that we find the negro market-gardener. He raises all that he offers, from the fat turkeys, ready dressed or alive in coops, to the tiny bird-peppers, brilliant in hue, small as a pea, hot as fire, and delightful in flavor, which grow wild along the bayou that borders his land.

Near by on the sidewalk a Chinese peddler displays his wares. John has his pig-tail neatly pinned up, and his blouse and shoes are models of cleanliness.

"Any thing a-day" he asks, exhibiting wonderful fans and cushions, brushes, teapots, Chinese lilies, and what not. He tries to be very persuasive in his pidgin-English, and represents demonstratively the interruption of the little black-eyed Dago boy who runs up his hand-car of hot peanuts and takes his stand, vociferously calling his wares.

A fat, yellow man, as greasy as his own plucked geese, is chaffering by his cart with a slip of a girl, who believes, and rightly, that he is cheating her in both price and measure as he buys from him a supply of okra for gumbo on the morrow.

Here is a little German woman, face sharp and puckered into innumerable wrinkles; but her balls of hand-cheese, strewn with caraway seeds, are white and appetizing. She has put some away in a can, which she tells you "schmech gut," but when uncovered they are as yellow as gold, and "smell to heaven;" yet these her German customers prefer.

This thin-faced Italian has a wagon laden with game, all killed close by. Mule-eared rabbits and "mollie-cotton-tails," squirrels, red, black and gray, some skinned, some not; bunches of partridges, braces of prairie chicken and dozens of snipe tied together by the neck; some wild geese; ducks of all kinds, from canvas-back to didapper; and here is a single sand-bill crane—fine eating the bird is, too, and a handsome fellow to shoot. The owner is a good salesman and an eager. He calls to each passer-by, and knows well how to praise and show his stock. Small, swarthy, lithe and dirty, he is a type of his class, always asking higher than he will get, and dropping little by little to the offered price at last.

Many others are in line, but they are but repetitions of these, if we except the strapping brown virago, with her poultry and eggs, turkeys and cabbage, who is too busy joking coarsely with the colored men and abusing the vendors around her to pay much attention to her trade.

Within the building stretches a quadruple row of vegetable stalls, all tended by women, German and Irish exclusively, clean dressed and hatless. Their wares make a pretty show; no hot-bed products are here, no garden truck from other States, but all home-raised. The fresh green and white of the succulent spring vegetables are seen in the midst of December, the pale pink radishes lying in the crisp, curly leaves of chicory; the purple kohlrabi against the piles of creamy, wax beans; the long, slim pods of "Carolina okra" are heaped next to golden carrots and red spring beets; piles of purple egg-plants are ranged between cabbage heads, probably hard; while great bunches of cool, white celery keep company with baskets of fresh green peas and pink-skinned new potatoes. The women are very artistic in their arrangement of these things, and they make a fine display of color; but fruit they do not touch. Here again the Dago comes to the fore. You find him in stalls stocked with West India, Northern, and California fruits; but what other States draw from the Antilles, Mexico supplies to Texas.

"Lemons a tawenta cents doznar; apples, banana, grapes—all a cheepa," they assure one as he goes by.

Very foreign they look, with gold rings in their ears, men though they be, and red mufflers around their throats. They seem to give endless amusement to the respectable-looking colored man and woman opposite, who keep a stall where they sell cold food—fried chicken and tender chicken, hard-boiled eggs and heaps of golden corn-bread and roasted potatoes, with thin-sliced sandwiches, all appetizing indeed, and where many a darty stops to eat a meal and treat his dusky "Dulcinea."

Beyond is the meat market, the butchers nearly all Germans, with a Frenchman and an American or two, to mix the nationalities. Passing through that, we enter what may be called the bazaar—little stores of ready-made clothing, both male and female, tinware, cutlery, baskets, fancy articles, candy, all separate, and the fast-named stalls presided over by handsome Italian and pleasant German girls. It is a very alla portina of merchandise.

Back of this again, the fish-market and game of various kinds, and here once more does the Dago find an occupation. There are shrimps, crabs, oysters and all sorts of fish, but the catfish, in infinite variety, stands out in marked prominence, for it is the favorite of the negro race, and they are rare good customers.

In and out of the building surge the crowd, for all of Houston is here. It is a singular custom, this making a fashionable promenade of the market, yet it obtains, and the fine ladies do not seem to mind the mixture of peoples or the place itself, but dress in "purple and fine linen" for the occasion. The dude is in force, and the "masquer" is not wanting; the men who stare and the girls who love to be stared at; sober matrons on house-keeping thoughts intent; flirtatious maidens who push through the crowd, and seem to have no idea that their manners are not of the best; natty negro wenches, pert of tongue and loose of demeanor; respectable colored "maams," ample of girth, in spotless white aprons; strapping negro men and sassy bootblacks; merchants, lawyers and physicians; servant-girls and cooks, the haute-couche and the dem-monde, and both in their best attire; policemen and tramps; old women, men on crutches and babies in arms; black, white, brown and yellow—negroes, Americans, Mongolians, Irish, Dutch, French, Germans, Italians and Spanish—they are all there, laughing, talking, quarreling, gesticulating, bargaining, gasping, staring, keeping appointments and making new ones, being proper or improper, polite or rude, as the case may be. And this goes on from four to nine in winter, from five to ten in summer. Every Saturday evening it is re-enacted; the people never tire, it seems, but congregate weekly, year in and year out, in an endless repetition of the same thing. It is a wonderful scene, a bustling moving picture of contrast and characters, and helps the traveler to better understand the prosperity of the State, which attracts one, and its rudenesses, which repel.—Lee C. Harby, in Harper's Magazine.

ATTAINMENTS OF THE TITLED.

PRINCESS BEATRICE is writing a book on lace, to be illustrated by herself.

THE CAR of Russia is a collector of postage stamps and bird's eggs, and plays the French horn, and is a clever performer on the piano.

THE small Archduchess Elizabeth, daughter of the late Crown Prince of Austria, is said to be growing exactly like her mother. The little girl is an enthusiastic entomologist, and never leaves the Castle of Laxenburg, where she lives, without a butterfly net.

PRINCE LOUIS OF BATTENBERG formerly took a fancy to the career of a printer, and became so far a master of his profession as to set up type in a highly commendable fashion. Subsequently, when the star of Battenberg rose to its zenith in the political firmament, Prince Louis relinquished his unpretentious calling and became an officer in the British navy. A short time ago, when serving on the Dreadnought, it occurred to him to turn his early training to account, so he printed a history of the Dreadnought and presented a copy to each of his shipmates.

As the royal family of England have some artistic pursuit. The Queen is musical, paints, models, and is learned in lace. The ex-Empress Frederick pursues both sculpture and painting. The Prince of Wales understands ceramics, bronzes and bric-a-brac, and dandles with the banjo. The Duke of Edinburgh is a violinist, and a collector of postage stamps and other curios. The Duke of Connaught studies the art of war with enthusiasm, and gathers coins, autographs and Oriental treasures. The Duke of Albany was a Shakespearean scholar and collector. The late Princess Alice, Princess Christian and Princess Louise followed painting and modelling from their girlhood, while Princess Beatrice, though an indifferent artist, would have made her fortune on the stage.

MINIATURE MESSAGE.

Journey of an Inscribed Postage Stamp from Louisville to Pittsburgh.

Graham C. Richards, a well-known Scotch-Irishman, prominent during the late congress of his race, was a few days ago the recipient of one of the oddest epistles that probably ever passed through the United States mails, says the Pittsburgh Times. Mr. Richards lives on Watson street, near Tunnel, and is a clerk by vocation. During the Scotch-Irish congress he made many friends from localities far distant, and among these was Malcolm H. McKenzie, of Louisville, Ky.

These two gentlemen had many agreeable conversations, and in the course of one of these Mr. McKenzie offered to bet his Pittsburgh friend that a common postage stamp, properly directed, could without any envelope appended, could be sent through the mails to its destination.

Mr. Richards accepted the bet, and as no more was said on the subject he forgot the whole transaction.

Thursday morning, however, the postman left with many grins what he called a "letter" for Mr. Richards. The "letter" was nothing more than a two-cent postage stamp. On the gummed side was written in tiny characters the address, "Graham C. Richards, Watson street, Pittsburgh, Pa." Below came the message: "All well. The bet is mine. McKenzie."

This extraordinary communication was hard to decipher, as some ruthless official had stamped a post-mark clear over the message.

A more extended letter was subsequently received by Mr. Richards from the enterprising Louisville, telling him to devote the money pending on the bet to the interests of the Scotch-Irish association.

Following instructions.

At a hotel waiter came out of the coffee-room and informed the manager that a man was raising a disturbance because he could not have his accusatory seat at the table. "Go in again," said the manager, "and propitiate him in some way." Back went the waiter, and said: "If you don't like the way things is done here you can get out, or 'I'll propitiate you pretty quick."

"Well; what is it?"

"How is your mother, this morning?"

"Very much better; she had a real restful sleep last night; she is almost rid of her night-sweats, cough and nervousness, and is growing quite cheerful. How grateful we all are to you for that bottle of medicine."

"Don't speak of gratitude. What does the doctor say?"

"He says he never saw so wonderful a change in such a serious lung trouble. He still thinks we are giving his medicine. I don't like to tell him."

"That's right. He's an old friend, you know. I'm sure your mother will get well now; but you won't forget the name of the medicine, will you?"

"Never! Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery are household words already, and it has come to me. Do come and see what sunshine it has brought already."

"I will. Good bye."

"Golden Medical Discovery" has cured severe, lingering coughs and arrested Consumption, or Lung-scrofula, in thousands of cases after doctors have failed and other medicines have been tried and abandoned as useless.
